The screenshot shows the Elsevier journal website header for "Brain and Development". The navigation menu includes "Home", "Main Menu", "Submit a Manuscript", "About", and "Help". A modal dialog box titled "Elsevier Publishing Options" is displayed. The dialog contains the following text: "Please indicate your Publishing Options. This is a hybrid journal. The journal publishes both subscription and OA articles. We will present your personalized Publishing Options based on the Institution and Funding details you have given us. Please note that at this stage in your submission, you are only indicating your preference. We will ask you to make a final choice after the journal has accepted your manuscript." Below the text are three buttons: "Publishing Options" (highlighted with an orange border), "Cancel", and "Proceed".

Subscription

Publish as a subscription article

Upon acceptance, my final published journal article will be immediately available to all journal subscribers, to patients and caregivers, and other groups.
I understand that I must wait for 12 months before I can share my accepted manuscript publicly in my institution or funder's repository. I can immediately share it on non-commercial personal homepages and blogs, within my institution, and privately with collaborators.

Gold Open Access: Society Membership Discount Agreement

(applicable to all authors)

In case your Society has an agreement with Elsevier for society members to publish Gold OA at a reduced rate, upon validation, you can pay the discounted Article Publishing Charge (APC).

- Validation: Society will confirm whether you or one of your co-authors are a member as you specified in the publishing journey. Based on this, we will send you an invoice for a discounted APC.
- Flexibility: If the Society does not validate, then you receive an invoice for the full APC. When publishing in a hybrid journal and you do not have the funding available, you can contact us via email to change the publishing option to subscription and publish free of charge within two weeks of Elsevier sending the invoice.
